

Film Live Action 'Moana' Akan Dibintangi oleh Catherine Laga'aia – Penampilan Epik yang Harus Ditunggu

Description

Moana Remake has Found its Star, Catherine Laga'aia
Disney has finally found their star for the Moana remake, and newcomer Catherine Laga'aia will be taking on the title role. The 17-year-old actor from Sydney, Australia will be starring alongside Dwayne Johnson, who will be reprising his role as Maui.

Excitement from the Cast

Laga'aia expressed her excitement by saying, "I'm really excited to embrace this character because Moana is one of my favorites." She also mentioned her heritage, which includes roots in Samoa, showing her appreciation for being able to represent Pacific Island peoples and young girls who look like her.

Support from Previous Stars

Auli'i Cravalho, who voiced the original Moana, will be executive producing the remake and mentoring Laga'aia in the role. The rest of the cast includes actors from New Zealand such as John Tui as Moana's father, Frankie Adams as Moana's mother, and Rena Owen as Gramma Tala.

Behind the Scenes

Thomas Kail, known for directing Broadway's Hamilton, is directing the remake set to release on July 10, 2026. Kail shared his excitement for the cast and expressed how thrilled he is to be working with them. The movie is highly anticipated as Moana has been one of Disney's most streamed films for several years.

Success of Moana

Moana has been a success for Disney, being one of the most viewed streaming movies in the U.S. According to Nielsen, it was the most viewed streaming movie in 2023, and it has consistently been in the top rankings since its release. The movie has also led to a sequel that is set to release soon.

Production Team

The film is being produced by Dwayne Johnson, Dany Garcia, and Hiram Garcia through their Seven

Bucks Productions, with Beau Flynn producing via FlynnPictureCo. Moana songwriter Lin-Manuel Miranda is also producing, following his Oscar nomination for the song “How Far I’ll Go.”
