

Grammy Awards 2024: Cara Menonton, Waktu, dan Streaming yang Menarik

Description

The anticipation for the 66th annual Grammy Awards is palpable, with a focus on female artists, while Greta Gerwig's movie, "Barbie," is expected to be the highlight of the night.

Greta Gerwig's "Barbie" is making waves with its 11 nominations across 7 categories. This is big news and highlights the importance of female representation at the Grammys. As an organization, the Recording Academy has been criticized in the past for failing to adequately recognize women, so having a female-oriented film take center stage at this year's event is a welcome change.

When and How to Watch

The ceremony will air live on Sunday, February 5th, at 8 p.m. Eastern time (5 p.m. Pacific time) on CBS and Paramount+. This year, the spotlight is on empowering and recognizing women in the music industry.

Notable Nominations and Snubs

Among the top contenders are SZA, Victoria Monét, and Phoebe Bridgers, who have received several nods each. However, there are some notable absences and snubs as well. Mexican star Peso Pluma and country artists Morgan Wallen and Oliver Anthony Music were left out of the best new artist category, while Paul Simon's "Seven Psalms" surprisingly did not receive any nominations.

Presenters and Performers

This year's star-studded lineup of presenters includes Christina Aguilera, Lenny Kravitz, Lionel Richie, Meryl Streep, and Oprah Winfrey. The show will also include performances from nominated artists such as Billie Eilish, Dua Lipa, Olivia Rodrigo, Travis Scott, and U2, and will feature Billy Joel's first pop song in nearly two decades.

Interesting Additions

The 66th Grammys will feature three new categories: best African music performance, best alternative jazz album, and best pop dance recording, which adds an exciting new dimension to the event. Alieyes will be on Taylor Swift, who could potentially make history by winning album of the year for the fourth time.

This year's Grammy Awards promise to be an exciting and captivating celebration of music, with an emphasis on recognizing and honoring women in the industry.
