

Steingold's Jewish Deli Terkenal Kini Hadir dalam Versi Pengiriman di West Town

Description

Steingold's of Chicago, a beloved Jewish deli, has recently opened a new takeout and delivery-only location called Steingold's Bakehouse in Humboldt Park and West Town. This pint-sized spot has been met with a warm reception, with customers flocking to enjoy classic deli items like bagels and lox as well as unique creations like challah buns stuffed with pastrami, egg, and cheese.

Owner Aaron Steingold has expressed his excitement at the community's response, stating that customers have devoured "pretty much everything" on the menu. While the bakehouse currently only offers pre-prepared items, plans are in the works to introduce made-to-order options in the near future. Despite the lack of indoor seating, there are hopes to add outdoor picnic tables for customers to enjoy their meals.

The opening of Steingold's Bakehouse is just the beginning of Steingold's expansion plans. A new location in Wrigleyville, set to open in May, will offer popular deli items alongside new offerings such as everything bagel-dogs on a stick and baklava soft serve. This partnership with Marquee Development aims to create a unique dining experience for Cubs fans and visitors to the area.

Steingold's journey to success has been years in the making, with the deli originally founded in 2017 and relocating in 2021 to a prime location in Lakeview. The move provided the team with a larger kitchen and greater visibility, leading to the development of innovative menu items. Despite a brief stint at Fulton Galley, brighter days are ahead for Steingold's as they prepare for their grand opening in Wrigleyville.

For those interested in trying out Steingold's Bakehouse, the location at 2939 W. Grand Avenue is open Friday through Sunday from 7 a.m. to 1 p.m. Orders can be placed online via Toast. Stay tuned for more updates on the deli's expansion and exciting new menu offerings.
